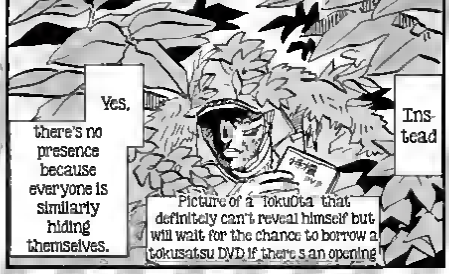
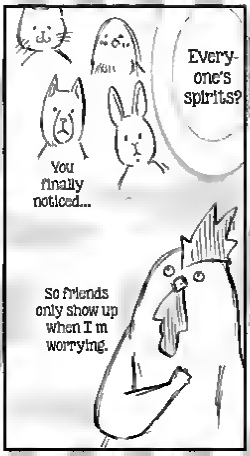
I wanted to try drawing a regular tokusatsu manga.
Everything is indeed, Ideal
So cool
When I was drawing this manga,
Hello there, nice to meet you.
My name is Tanba Niwa.
A common entrance
Hm
that would mean I have to tell my editor that I watch tokusatsu.
Which is what I thought but...
The sea cucumber was prepared to spill its innards.
I loooove tokusatsu
オエエ
I told him
Sea cucumbers vomit up their innards in a pinch
Really!? No, but even if they're few, I have a lot of friends who watch it.
And there are people who talk about it on Twitter in the early morning.
Huh?
He twiddles with straw when he gets nervous.
May be a tad too little.
There aren't any people who watch it.
I think the number of people who watch this
But—

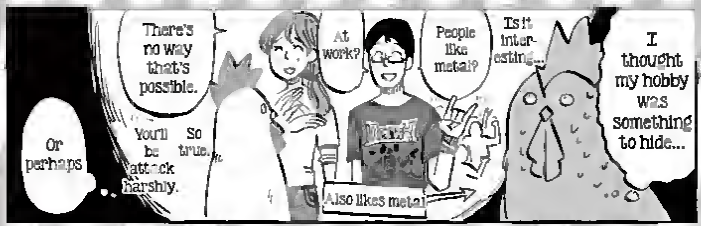


Yes, there's no presence because everyone is similarly hiding themselves.
Instead
Picture of a tokuOta that definitely can't reveal himself but will wait for the chance to borrow a tokusatsu DVD if there's an opening



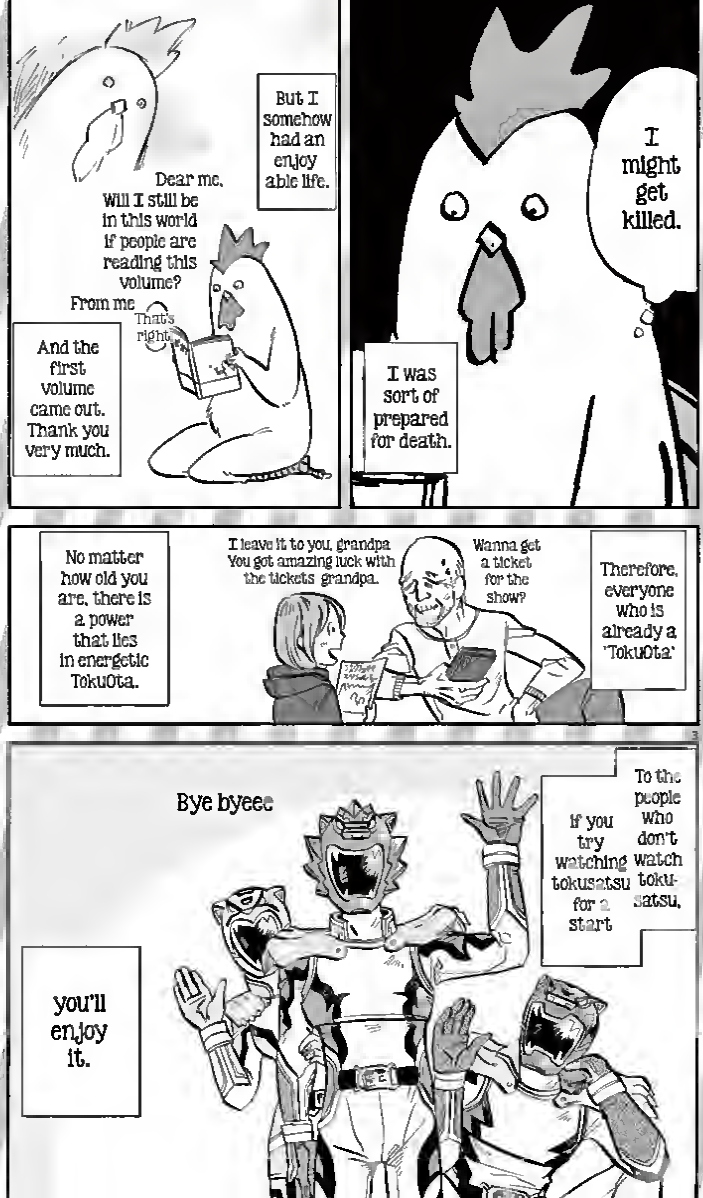
Everyone's spirits?
You finally noticed...
So friends only show up when I'm worrying.

Okay.
That story is intersting.
Huh
So let's make it into a manga.



There's no way that's possible.
At work?
People like metal?
Is it interestin...
I thought my hobby was something to hide...
Or perhaps
You'll be attack harshly.
So true.
Also likes metal

But since we're talking about what to draw here...
I'm not particularly knowledgeable about tokusatsu in the first place.
they might get mad at me.
If I do something excessive,
into broad daylight.
I'm exposing what everyone is hiding
Oh shit...



I might get killed.
I was sort of prepared for death.
But I somehow had an enjoy able life.
Dear me. Will I still be in this world if people are reading this volume?
From me
That's right
And the first volume came out. Thank you very much.
No matter how old you are, there is a power that lies in energetic TokuOta.

Wanna get a ticket for the show?
Therefore, everyone who is already a 'TokuOta'
